Why PostfixAdmin?

Super-Admin

- „root“ for mails
- can create domains and admins

Domain-Admin

- admin for some domains

User (/users)

- change alias, autoresponder message and password

Once upon a time...

- Sept. 2006: I switched from Plesk to PostfixAdmin
- some patches later:

Code cleanup

Hi Christian,

I would be happy to add you as developer to the project. I am not able to maintain it anymore. :(

Mischa

- about 8 years of code cleanup

postfix.admin

3.0 beta2
OUT NOW!

beta3 coming soon!

and commandline client
Web interface to manage your mailserver:

- new commandline client (postfixadmin-cli)
- autoresponder start and end date
- complete rewrite (to *Handler classes)
- edit.php instead of lots of edit-.php und create-.php
- easily add and change fields with hook functions
(`$CONF['*_struct_hook']`)
- Smarty templates
- ... and 1000 little improvements

- postfixadmin-cli <module> <action> <ID> \
[--parameter ...]
- <module>: admin, domain, mailbox, alias, aliasdomain, fetchmail
- <action>: view, add, update, delete, help
- <ID>: e. g. user@example.com
- --parameter: see postfixadmin-cli <modul> <aktion> help

- postfixadmin-cli help
- postfixadmin-cli domain help
- postfixadmin-cli domain add help
- postfixadmin-cli domain add # interactive mode
- postfixadmin-cli domain add example.com
uses defaults for all other fields
- postfixadmin-cli domain add example.com \
--description "test domain" --aliases 100 \
--mailboxes 50 --maxquota 100

- webserver with PHP
- MySQL or PostgreSQL
- Postfix with MySQL or PostgreSQL support
(package postfix-mysql/postfix-postgresql)
- Dovecot (or Courier or Cyrus)
- documentation describing the Postfix und Dovecot configuration included

- configuration is in `config.inc.php`
- write your own configuration to `config.local.php`
(if the file doesn't exist, create it!)
- everything else is explained when first accessing PostfixAdmin and `setup.php`
- no „default“ account – create your first Super-Admin with `setup.php`
- database gets auto-created by `setup.php`
- when updating, run `setup.php`

- list.php instead of lots of list*.php
- edit.php also usable for users/*
- flag to protect some aliases from being edited or deleted
(used by $CONF['alias_control_admin'])
- auto_increment with „readable“ label field (e. g. for fetchmail jobs)
- mass edit *
- better search *
- CSV export
- several little improvements

Thanks, rural youth!
